DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Drawings

2. Figures 1 and 2 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-5, 7-11, 13-17, 19-23 and 25-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mehdizadeh et al. (US 5,144,240).

With respect to claims 1, 7, 19 and 25, Mehdizadeh discloses an apparatus for magnetic resonance imaging, comprising (Figure 1): a degenerate birdcage coil (Figure 2, #24) having a pair of opposing rings and a plurality of rungs positioned circumferentially around said pair of rings (Figure 2); input excitation circuitry for applying excitation radio frequency (RF) energy to said degenerate birdcage coil at a first resonance mode thereof (Figure 1, #20); and output receiving circuitry for receiving RF energy emitted by an object positioned within said degenerate birdcage coil (Figure 1, #30), said output receiving circuitry receiving said emitted RF energy at a plurality of resonance modes of said degenerate birdcage coil, including said first resonance mode (Column 4, lines 3-18).

5. With respect to claims 2, 8, 14, 20 and 26, Mehdizadeh discloses said input excitation circuitry includes one or more phase shifting splitters for sinusoidally applying said excitation RF energy to one or more of said plurality of rungs (Columns 3 and 4, lines 53-68 and 1-2 respectively; Figure 1, #22a and #22b).

6. With respect to claims 3, 9, 15, 21 and 28, Mehdizadeh discloses said output receiving circuitry includes one or more combiners for combining said emitted RF energy from one or more of said plurality of rungs (Column 4, lines 3-18; Figure 1, #22a and #22b).

7. With respect to claims 4, 10, 16, 22 and 29, Mehdizadeh discloses said one or more combiners include phase shifting combiners (Columns 3 and 4, lines 53-68 and 1-2 respectively; Figure 1, #22a and #22b).

8. With respect to claims 5, 11, 17, 23 and 30, Mehdizadeh discloses said degenerate birdcage coil is configured as a phased array by combining said emitted RF energy at each of said plurality of resonance modes (Columns 3 and 4, lines 53-68 and 1-18 respectively).

9. With respect to claim 13, Mehdizadeh discloses the claimed limitations as stated above in paragraph 4 and additionally discloses a computer (as seen on Figure 1) a magnet assembly for generating a polarizing magnetic field (Figure 1, #10); a gradient coil assembly for applying gradient waveforms to said polarizing magnetic field along selected gradient axes (Figure 1, #16) and a radio frequency (RF) transceiver system for applying RF energy to excite nuclear spins of an object to be imaged, and for thereafter detecting signals generated by excited nuclei of said object to be imaged (Figures 1 and 2; Abstract).

10. With respect to claim 27, Mehdizadeh discloses the step of configuring a 180° phase shifting splitter (Column 6, lines 6-9) and a pair of 90° phase shifting splitters for sinusoidally applying said excitation RF energy to one or more of said rungs of the degenerate birdcage resonator (Columns 3 and 4, lines 66-68 and 1-2 respectively).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

11. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

12. Claims 6, 12, 18, 24 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mehdizadeh et al. (US 5,144,240). in view of Harvey (US 6,522,140).

With respect to claims 6, 12, 18, 24 and 31, Mehdizadeh discloses the claimed invention as stated in paragraph 4 above except for each of said plurality of resonance modes is used for sensitivity encoding (SENSE). However, Harvey discloses the use of the SENSE method for each of said plurality of resonance modes (Abstract). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use Harvey known SENSE method in Mehdizadeh's NMR resonator in the NMR system for the purpose of enabling the image acquisition to be performed with a reduced FOV (field of view); parallel, multi-channel detection in short as possible acquisition time.

Conclusion

13. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The additional prior art cited in the PTO 892 discloses birdcage resonators for using in NMR systems that includes phase splitters.
